The Historical Dictionary of Latin American Literature and Theater provides users with an accessible single-volume reference tool covering Portuguese-speaking Brazil and the 16 Spanish-speaking countries of continental Latin America (Argentina, Bolivia, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Ecuador, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay, and Venezuela). Entries for authors, from the early colonial period to the present, give succinct biographical data and an account of the author's literary production, with particular attention to their most prominent works and where they belong in literary history.

The award winning author of Tear This Heart Out writes a compilation of deeply personal stories imbued with the human spirit, driven by different powerful women connected by desire. Each story in this "remarkable collection" (Kirkus Reviews) reveals a different woman, yet all are linked by a single thread: the strength of desire. Vibrant, sly, wise, earthy, and full of life, these are stories that mesmerize.

Explores the recent work of nine contemporary Mexican women writers, including Laura Esquivel, Angeles Mastretta, and Elena Poniatowska.

Tackling the complexities of the Spanish language just got easier with the new sixth edition of Avanzando. This traditional intermediate-level book covers both spoken and written Spanish grammar to improve one's comprehension of the language. It incorporates updated vocabulary and topics covering new technology. The grammar scope and sequence has also been updated to provide more balance in length and difficulty.

Insightful and heart-warming, this classic book is written for those who seek to know God better. It unfolds life-impacting, biblical truths and has been called a "soul-stirring celebration of the pleasures of knowing God."

Debut work in English, a literary memoir, by Sergio Pitol, maestro of Mexican literature, winner of the 2005 Cervantes Prize.

One former Miss Bolivia. Two missing Colombian drug dealers. Three wealthy tourists taken hostage. A passenger liner runs aground on the muddy banks of the Rio del Plata. One by one, its passengers are abducted by the city's criminal classes. As the kidnapping of three wealthy European couples sends stock markets yo-yoing, the job of solving the chaos falls on the weary shoulders of the last honest men in town--Deputy Inspector Walter Carroza of the serious-crime squad. But the one thing on his mind is former Miss Bolivia, Ana Torrente, "a cherub with tropical lips and tits." Why is it that the bodies of the men who try to take her to bed are always found minus a head? Devilishly ironic and shirt-soakingly atmospheric, Holy City confirms Orsi as the master chronicler of Buenos Aires' murderous underworld.

El propósito de esta obra es el de reflexionar sobre las redes que entretejen el rico panorama de la narrativa hispanoamericana del siglo XX, pretendiendo servir de guía de lectura que proporcione al lector un hilo conductor que le ayude a colocar en su justo lugar autores y obras.

Paloma Sánchez-Garnica's first novel to be translated into English is a beautiful, harrowing, and illuminating story of family betrayals and a last chance for forgiveness. Carlota Molina has a brilliant career as a judge in Madrid, the respect of her peers, and an independent life. But it's a life still haunted by the specter of a father she's been estranged from for decades. Then one day

Carlota gets a phone call from a familial stranger--her half sister, Julia--with an impassioned request. After years of pain and distance, Carlota's father, Clemente, wants to see her before he dies...and to settle the past. Seizing on the opportunity to confront all her disillusion, Carlota begins to unravel the lies and deception in her family history. Some secrets she knows, and some secrets she has yet to discover. It is up to Carlota to decide how much of a mark she will let those secrets leave.

"La Plaza del Diamante" de Mercè Rodoreda, es una de las novelas más importantes y bellas publicadas en el siglo XX. Por su construcción del discurso, simbología, pluralidad de experiencias, etc. de ella pueden hacerse diversas lecturas. La que Josefa Buendía hace y propone en este libro tiene como marco la categoría de género, la crítica de la recepción y la crítica literaria feminista. A través de este prisma se comprueba cómo "La Plaza del Diamante" es una obra inacabada, abierta a las quejas, gritos, explicaciones, confidencias de Natalia... para, desde ahí, reflexionar e imaginar la vida de otras muchas Natalias. Su estilo de escritura hablada favorece la interlocución con la protagonista, con los temas que sugiere y los contextos construidos; permite recrear personajes e historias, dando forma y densidad a sus vidas, poniendo contenido en sus sentimientos y pensamientos, reconstruir perfiles y dar sentido a los mundos de los actores que componen y organizan el enredo de la novela. Con este libro sobre la obra de Mercè Rodoreda se rinde homenaje a esta escritora catalana en el centenario de su nacimiento.

Invites readers to guess which animal is being described based on clues about its features, including orange feet and toes, a smooth green back, and a sticky pink tongue.

Before the entrance of sin, Adam enjoyed open communion with his Maker; but since man separated himself from God by transgression, the human race has been cut off from this high privilege. By the plan of redemption, however, a way has been opened whereby the inhabitants of the earth may still have connection with heaven. God has communicated with men by His Spirit, and divine light has been imparted to the world by revelations to His chosen servants. "Holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost." 2 Peter 1:21. During the first twenty-five hundred years of human history, there was no written revelation. Those who had been taught of God, communicated their knowledge to others, and it was handed down from father to son, through successive generations. The preparation of the written word began in the time of Moses. Inspired revelations were then embodied in an inspired book. This work continued during the long period of sixteen hundred years,—from Moses, the historian of creation and the law, to John, the recorder of the most sublime truths of the gospel. The Bible points to God as its author; yet it was written by human hands; and in the varied style of its different books it presents the characteristics of the several writers. The truths revealed are all "given by inspiration of God" (2 Tim. 3:16); yet they are expressed in the words of men. The Infinite One by His Holy Spirit has shed light into the minds and hearts of His servants. He has given dreams and visions, symbols and figures; and those to whom the truth was thus revealed, have themselves embodied the thought in human language. The ten commandments were spoken by God Himself, and were written by His own hand. They are of divine, and not of human composition. But the Bible, with its God-given truths expressed in the language of men, presents a union of the divine and the human. Such a union existed in the nature of Christ, who was the Son of God and the Son of man. Thus it is true of the Bible, as it was of Christ, that “the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us.” John 1:14. Written in different ages, by men who differed widely in rank and occupation, and in mental and spiritual endowments, the books of the Bible present a wide contrast in style, as well as a diversity in the nature of the subjects unfolded. Different forms of expression are employed by different writers; often the same truth is more strikingly presented by one than by another. And as several writers present a subject under varied aspects and relations, there may appear, to the superficial, careless, or prejudiced reader, to be discrepancy or contradiction, where the thoughtful, reverent student, with clearer insight, discerns the underlying harmony. As presented through different individuals, the truth is brought out in its varied aspects. One writer is more strongly impressed with one phase of the subject; he grasps those points that harmonize with his experience or with his power of perception and appreciation; another seizes upon a different phase; and each, under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, presents what is most forcibly impressed upon his own mind—a different aspect of the truth in each, but a perfect harmony through all. And the truths thus revealed unite to form a perfect whole, adapted to meet the wants of men in all the circumstances and experiences of life. God has been pleased to communicate His truth to the world by human agencies, and He Himself, by His Holy Spirit, qualified men and enabled them to do this work. He guided the mind in the selection of what to speak and what to write. The treasure was intrusted to earthen vessels, yet it is, none the less, from Heaven. The testimony is conveyed through the imperfect expression of human language, yet it is the testimony of God; and the obedient, believing child of God beholds in it the glory of a divine power, full of grace and truth.

A love story set in the years after the Mexican revolution.

Emilia Sauris is the daughter of a Spanish mother and Mayan herbalist father. In the midst of the hardships of the Mexican rebellions of the early-20th-century, Emilia is torn between her love for two men: a childhood friend who runs off to fight, and a peace-loving doctor.

This remarkable first novel depicts life in the small Mexican town of Ixtepec during the grim days of the Revolution. The town tells its own story against a variegated background of political change, religious persecution, and social unrest.

Elena Garro, who has also won a high reputation as a playwright, is a masterly storyteller. Although her plot is dramatically intense and suspenseful, the novel does not depend for its effectiveness on narrative continuity. It is a book of episodes, one that leaves the reader with a series of vivid impressions. The colors are bright, the smells pungent, the many characters clearly drawn in a few bold strokes. Octavio Paz, the distinguished poet and critic, has written that it "is truly an extraordinary work, one of the most perfect creations in contemporary Latin American literature."

Lecturas literarias shares same methodology, design, icons, and so forth as Punto y aparte. Each reading is accompanied by pre- and post-reading activities as well as by role-playing, creative-writing, and other follow-up activities that students can use to expand on the themes presented in each reading. Students are exposed to literary terminology. With each reading, a different aspect of literary analysis is presented (e.g., the use of dialogue, tone, narrative voice).

Students are then asked to apply this new knowledge in a deeper analysis of the reading as a creative work.

Este libro analiza la perspectiva de cuatro escritoras mexicanas -Nellie Campobello, Elena Garro, Laura Esquivel y Angeles Mastretta- acerca de la Revolución Mexicana y cómo estas escritoras recuperan la memoria popular, recreando y reincluyendo a las mujeres en la narrativa nacional respecto a su participación en la propia Revolución, más allá del conocido papel de soldaderas y Adelitas que acompañaban a los diferentes ejércitos revolucionarios. Este trabajo combina diferentes planteamientos críticos feministas, antropológicos y geográficos que además de las mujeres, incluyen a los indígenas y a otras minorías étnicas contemplando la interrelación de las categorías de género, espacio, raza y clase como un todo que define y redefine, permanentemente, identidades espacializadas en cambio permanente y constante. ENGLISH VERSION This book analyzes the perspective of four Mexican women writers regarding the Mexican Revolution---Nellie Campobello, Elena Garro, Laura Esquivel, and Angeles Mastretta. It examines how they recover popular memory to re-create and re-insert women in the national narrative with respect to their participation in the Revolution, which extended beyond the role of soldiers, camp followers, and soldiers' wives. The work combines cultural studies with feminist critical readings and an anthropological and geographical awareness of the roles of indigenous people and ethnic minorities, while paying attention to different categories such as gender, place, race, and class, as a wholeness of spatialized identities in permanent and constant flux. Ela Molina Sevilla de Morelock is a Latin Americanist currently based in the U.S.

Hay días en los que el viento de las horas se vuelve tan intenso que quedan para siempre marcados en nuestra memoria. Ángeles Mastretta nos hace partícipes del legado de esos días evocando los detalles más cotidianos y al mismo tiempo más preciados de este mundo palpitante y generoso que nos rodea. Aquí se reviven emociones que hacen que el tiempo se dilate y reflexiones en torno a grandes temas universales como la juventud, la belleza, el amor, la muerte y, sobre todo, el paso inevitable de los años. Es una celebración de la alegría de sentirse vivos, de la dicha extraordinaria de dejar que la vida pase, de la necesidad de disfrutar de los placeres de la existencia. Un recorrido por todos esos recuerdos que se presentan de manera inesperada y que traen consigo la más auténtica felicidad. Set in an imaginary walled city off the coast of Morocco, Mogador traces the days and nights of Fatma, a young woman who finds herself suddenly seized by desire. As she wanders the city's maze of erotic pleasures, she encounters other desiring bodies...

Después de años sin verse, y mientras juegan una partida de ajedrez, JuliaCorzas cuenta historias de amor y desamor a su tercer marido, que se abandona a la calidez de su voz. Maridos infieles, eternas enamoradas que siempre perdonan, viudas fantasiosas... todos se dan cita en estas páginas donde se tejen historias sobre el amor y el difícil arte de la convivencia.

Alicia Borinsky argues that the contemporary Latin American novel does not just ingeniously dismantle the referential claims of the more traditional novel; it offers a postmodern version of the lessons taught by fiction. Latin American fiction, perhaps the most inventive literature of recent decades, seems marked by its self-reflexivity, by its playful relationship to history and the everyday, and by its concerns with the ways in which language works. But is it, Borinsky asks, really a literature whose primary goal is to raise metafictional questions about writing and reading? While the effects of this literature include dismantling the illusions of realism, naturalism, and historicism, the haunting and disturbing energy of its major works lies in their capacity of invoke a region beyond literature through literature. Theoretical Fables progresses by way of close readings of the works of eight canonical—and not quite canonical—Latin American Authors. Borinsky argues that the Latin American "theoretical fable" has its origins in the work of the early twentieth-century Argentinean writer Macedonio Fernández. In this light she studies the works of Jorge Luis Borges, Gabriel Garcia Márquez, Julio Cortázar, José Donoso, Adolfo Bioy Cesares, Manuel Puig, and Maria Luisa Bombal.

Angeles Mastretta retrata la fuerza del carcter de mujeres que nacieron con estrella, y nos muestra un universo de emancipacin y sabidura. En Mujeres de ojos grandes, lo femenino irrumpe en la cultura para ensanchar sus lmites e iluminar el camino. La inteligencia y la complicidad que irradia la prosa de Angeles Mastretta convierten estas historias minsculas en adictivas narraciones de magistral sencillez. Con un milln de lectores, Mujeres de ojos grandes constituye una de las muestras ms personales y creativas de la literatura actual escrita en espaol.

"The first major study on the works of the Mexican novelist, âAngeles Mastretta, demonstrating the rich complexity and range of the author's fiction and essays"--Provided by publisher.

This book explores the question of female identity and subjectivity through a series of articles on Spanish and Latin American women writers. Collaborators to this commemorative volume include such internationally known scholars such as Randolph Pope, Eunice Myers, María Salgado, María-Elena Bravo, etc. "[This volume] affords the opportunity to read some fine articles that shed light on the work of various Hispanic women writers."— Kathleen M. Glenn, Revista de Estudios Hispánicos.

Hay en El cielo de los leones el deseo de contar el mundo para bendecirlo. Todo lo que sucede alrededor de Ángeles Mastretta la sorprende y abisma en un canto que no transige con la desdicha como algo insondable. Andar en la vida es irse de parranda en busca de sus mejores instantes y de cada instante como el atisbo de un milagro. Extraña correspondencia la que existe entre los deseos y la seducción, entre la riqueza y la casualidad, entre el mar y los volcanes, entre la valentía y el desafuero, entre las aventuras y la ventura. Este libro asombroso acude en busca de semejante vínculo, y lo encuentra en recuerdos de infancia, visiones del mundo y personajes que pueblan la memoria. La evocación y los sueños surcan estas páginas, cuyo empeño es persuadirnos de cuán prodigiosa y arrebatada es la vida, de cuántos motivos diarios tiene para hacer que la veneremos. Ángeles Mastretta cree en el sensato hábito de la locura, en el desafío diario que es mirar a otros vivir como quien delira: cielo hay para todos, dice, hasta para los leones debe haber un cielo.

Una antología. La escritura y la felicidad me fueron enseñadas como una misma cosa. No tengo cómo pagar semejante herencia. Como una misma cosa aprendí las palabras y la fiesta, la conversación y la leyenda, el juego y la sintaxis, la voluntad y la fantasía. Como una misma cosa miro mi historia y la del mundo en que crecí y al que vuelvo sin tregua lo mismo que quien vuelve por agua

Traces the author's experiences as an illegal child immigrant, describing her father's violent alcoholism, her efforts to obtain a higher education, and the inspiration of Latina authors.
